Subject: Outdoor woodburning furnace

I am writing this email as a retired employee of the Department of Environmental Protection. I am a single, female, senior who has owned and operated an outdoor wood burning furnace to provide all the heat and hot water for my home for over eight years. My furnace is located close to my home and I have not had one problem with smoke entering my home. I burn only seasoned hard wood and find that there is not any more smoke being released into the air than that of my neighbors in-house wood stoves and fireplaces. I purchased this furnace, prior to my retirement to save money and not use fossil fuels for heating. Please look at the issue before you very carefully.

Respectfully,
